No Two-Legged Machine Wireless Flight, Perhaps She Made Angel Cake Cheating His Wife

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

R. J. WENSLEY, inventor of a mechanical man that unveiled ... of George Washington, believes an hour of metal will liberate ... industrial slavery as Washington freed us from European tyranny.

WORKERS need not fear that ... mallic "robots" will ruin the labor market. Long ago mechanical inventors made their appearance to do many of all kinds driven by steam or electricity. One machine does the work for 10,000 women; one locomotive pulls the load of 1,000 steam cars, replacing one thousand drivers.

The perfected machine will not be an ... person man standing upright or ... That position man achieved ... over high grass for enemies, ... the beginning, and to look ... stars later. Mechanical men ... an interesting curiosity, ... industrial success. Science imitates nature and does not imitate. The ... flying machine, without ... or methods, will prove that.

A NEW flying machine idea, based ... "free energy" or "magnetic" ... interests Lindbergh and others, ... no fuel, is expected to fly for ... thousand hours, and Lester J. ... shot, the inventor, is full of ... It is only hope as yet, although ... working model performs well, ... ally, no doubt, as Tesla and ... believe, flying machines will pick ... That will solve ... problems and 1,000 miles an ... speed will annihilate distance.

FIND FLIVVER PLANE BUT NO TRACE OF PILOT

Harry Brooks Believed To Have Lost His Life in Crash of Ship

CRAFT WASHED ASHORE

Mother Bears Up Well as No News of Son Is Received

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 27—The ill-fated Ford plane in which Harry Brooks, test pilot for the Ford Motor Co., apparently lost his life in attempting to fly from Titusville to Miami late Saturday, drifted on the beach near here today.

The plane was found on the beach about 16 miles below here, just as a dozen coast guard vessels and fishing steamers were to resume their search for the ship which suddenly disappeared Sunday while efforts were being made to haul it ashore.

The body of Brooks was not found in the plane, continuing stories of eye witnesses that the pilot was seen standing on the wing of the ship, waiting for a chance to jump before the craft hit the waves. Ford company officials had said Brooks was strapped to his seat.

The plane was badly smashed, and one wing and the propeller were torn off. The gas tank was intact but the machine was so torn up that little could be learned from a preliminary investigation as to what caused the plane to crash.

Brooks took off for Miami late Saturday to complete his flight from Detroit. He had been forced to land at Titusville by a leaking gas line and also to repair his propeller. It was the seventh time Brooks had attempted a nonstop flight from Detroit to Miami, the first attempt having ended when he was forced to land in North Carolina.

Detroit, Feb. 27—A brave mother today was reconciling herself to the loss of an only son.

BANDITS TAKE MAN'S MONEY, JEWELRY, CAR

Toledo Resident Held Up Near Brush Ridge by Pair of Robbers

Robbed of his money, jewelry and automobile, James Wilson, 453 Monroe st., Toledo, walked to the city from Brush Ridge early Sunday morning and reported his unfortunate experience to the police.

Details of the robbery are lacking as Wilson left the city shortly after making his report to police. As far as could be learned he was driving north on the Upper Sandusky road shortly after midnight and a short distance north of Brush Ridge he was stopped by two men.

As he brought his car to a stop the two men boarded the machine and at the point of a gun forced him to alight and after taking $10 in cash, an Elgin watch and an Eagle signet ring, the men climbed in the machine and proceeded north, leaving their victim standing in the road.

He walked to this city where he reported the robbery to the police. He told the police he was driving a Nash coach bearing Ohio license 422-873.

EXPECT ARREST OF "TORCH MURDERER"

Detectives Unearth New Clews in Death of 40-Year-Old Governess

Newark, N. J., Feb. 27—Promising that within 48 hours the "torch murderer" of Miss Margaret Brown, 40-year-old governess of a wealthy New York family, would be either under arrest or dead, two detectives set out from headquarters today for an unannounced destination.

"We have found the clews we were after," they said. "The murderer is the same man who used to come over here from New York often about 12 years ago, and who got into a little trouble here."

The detectives refused to reveal the man's name, or to tell how they obtained their information concerning him. Miss Brown died shortly after being found by motorists on a lonely road, her oil soaked clothing in flames.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27—Miss Mary Hogan, 105, of Chicago, calmly puffed at her corn cob pipe here today and decreed that all flappers belonged in jail.

"All flappers have bad manners—the impudent little snips with their cigarettes gin and bad manners—they ought to be put in jail," she said.

Miss Hogan is in full possession of all her faculties, reads daily newspapers, magazines and books, keeps abreast of the times and is patiently waiting until spring so she can resume her daily walks. Not only that but she does all her own housework and washing.

BANDITS HELD, MOST OF LOOT IS RECOVERED

Sensational Mail Robbery Speedily Cleared Up by Police Officials

Chicago, Feb. 27—With most of the participants under arrest and a large amount of the loot recovered, the sensational $135,000 Grand Trunk mail robbery, staged Saturday morning at a South Side suburban station, was practically cleared up today, according to high police officials and postal inspectors assigned to the case.

All of the loot was in currency, packed in two sealed mail pouches. More than half of the stolen money is believed to have been recovered. The latest cache was discovered early today in a police raid on a flat several blocks from the scene of the holdup. Eighteen thousand dollars were recovered there and three women, found in the place, were arrested.

This brings the total arrests in connection with the robbery to 20 men and eight women. Two of the men and one of the women have made complete confessions, according to Deputy Police Commissioner William F. O'Connor.

Attorney Involved

A man, widely-known as an attorney and politician, was said to be implicated in the confessions. He not only knew of the robbery plans, according to the statements, but participated in distributing the loot.

Another man, prominent in local politics, is said to be involved in the case. He is being sought by police and government agents.

The two men who have made complete confessions, according to Deputy O'Connor, are Charles Cleaver and William Donovan. O'Connor regards them as the "brains" and ring leaders of the gang of seven men who actually staged the daring holdup.

The money was being shipped from Chicago banks to banks at Harvey, a southwestern suburb, for the purpose of meeting week-end industrial payrolls. It was in two consignments, $80,000 in one pouch and $55,000 in another.

One Was Passenger

One of the seven bandits was a passenger on the train. He asked to be let off at Evergreen Park, a small isolated station where certain trains stop only to let off passengers. As soon as the train came to a halt, six men, heavily armed and masked, swung aboard in typical Jesse James fashion.

Shots were fired to intimidate the crew and passengers, who were herded

BROTHERS ARE HELD WHEN THREAT FAILS

Youths Attempt To Duplicate Crime of Hickman; Seek $1,000 from Physician

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 27—Outfoxed by police and captured red-handed in an attempt to duplicate the sensational crime of Edward Hickman, Los Angeles kidnaper and murderer, Robert and Howard Hubner, youthful brothers, brooded in a cell at the city jail here today on the plot that failed—a plot to extort $1,000 from Dr. C. L. Bittner, prominent local physician, under threat to kill the doctor or one of his three children.

The two youths, both with a previous criminal record and both, like Hickman, on probation, were trapped and taken prisoner without a struggle at a lonely spot on the Freeport Road, near Sacramento, yesterday. They were in the act of opening a package left by Dr. Bittner, supposed to contain the $1,000 demanded of him, when police officers closed in and made the arrest.

The award was made by the War Department on April 22, 1926, while Forbes was an inmate of the penitentiary. Official notice of the award was sent Forbes only a few days ago.

The citation, made in the name of President Coolidge, declared Forbes had won the medal for "exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services in the performance of duties of great responsibility as Lieutenant Colonel, Signal Corps, U. S. Army, as divisional signal officer in the American Expeditionary Forces." Forbes served a year in Fort

COUNCIL TO ACT ON ORDINANCE BOOSTING FEES

Measure Designed To Provide Sliding Scale for Construction Permits

FAVORED BY OFFICIALS

Seen as Forerunner To Establishing City Department of Building Inspection

As a forerunner to the establishment of a municipal department for building inspection, City Council at its meeting tonight will consider the proposition of increasing the fee of building permits.

The plan to be submitted tonight provides a sliding scale of fees, the amount corresponding to the value of the project for which the permit is issued.

Under the existing system a general charge of 50 cents is made, regardless of the amount of money to be expected in any building project.

This flat charge long has been regarded by city officials as discriminatory, the small builder being forced to pay the same fee as the person who is promoting a large project.

Provisions of Plan

The ordinance which will be presented to council tonight eliminates this objectionable feature, according to officials. It provides a charge of 50 cents for a permit to building any structure costing $200 or less, $1 for a structure to cost from $200 to $1,000 and 50 cents for each additional $1,000.

While no opinions could be obtained today from those who will have the say at tonight's meeting, belief was expressed by several officials around City Hall that this plan is the best solution to the problem of providing funds for the hiring of a building inspector that has been presented thus far.

Practically all of the larger cities have a sliding scale for permits officials point out. A Columbus builder who recently applied at City Hall for a building permit, said he had paid as high as $500 for a permit in Columbus and was much surprised that the fee here was so small.

Plan Favored

That practically all builders would welcome the establishing of a building inspector was shown in a check made here last week. While a few objected on the grounds that the office would simply mean the creating of additional expense, the majority said they would welcome an inspector.

They point out that with the establishing of an inspection department all builders would be compelled to build according to a fixed standard it is pointed out.

Better homes with a reduction in fire hazards, will follow the establishing of a building inspector, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland says. An example of what will be prevented, was cited by the chief who said he was asked recent-

Los Angeles, Feb. 27—On the eve of her retirement from the concert stage, Mme. Schumann-Heink has already begun to lay plans for the discovery of her successor.

The internationally known singer, whose rich voice has enthralled the audiences of many nations over a span of 52 years, announced today that she will devote her energy and time to the development of "the one great contralto" to succeed herself after her retirement on May 18.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who is 67 years old, is now conducting a farewell concert tour. After she has brought her professional career to a close, she declares she will develop vocal talent in the United States with a view of unearthing her successor.

But, before she will undertake to train any young woman, she stated, that young woman must be "intent and serious, must not smoke, must not paint and must never drink."

AID CHICAGO

Six Mississippi Valley States Back Diversion Bill

Washington, Feb. 27—Six Mississippi Valley states today rallied to the support of Chicago in the lake diversion fight with the filing of an intervenors' brief at the supreme court.

The states which asked the court to sustain the finding of special master Charles E. Hughes that Chicago has authority to divert water from Lake Michigan under a War Department permit, are Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

The Chicago diversion, essential for drainage purposes, adds six inches to the dept of the Mississippi River at the critical points of navigation, the river states contended. Lake Michigan water, after flowing into the Chicago drainage canal, goes into the Illinois River, and then into the Mississippi.

TWO PASSENGERS OF PLANE ARE MISSING

Mystery Shrouds Disappearance After Short Flight To Meet Steamer

New York, Feb. 27—Mystery today still shrouded the fate of the two occupants of the plane which disappeared after flying seaward late Saturday afternoon to meet an incoming transatlantic liner.

The plane, a Waco 10, carried Walter Hendricks, of New Gardens, N. Y., the pilot, and an unknown passenger. Ships and aircraft still were searching the waters in the vicinity of New York today but as yet no trace of the plane has been found.

It was presumed the plane went to meet the George Washington, the only liner arriving Saturday afternoon. Officials of the ship however, reported that they had not seen any trace of the plane.

The passenger was believed to have been David Staggert, but there was no confirmation of this. It was reported that he had asked Hendricks to pilot him out to the vessel so that he might wave a greeting to his sweetheart, who was arriving from Europe.

WILLIS WILL SPEAK ONLY ON SATURDAYS

Thompson Says Candidate Will Be Back in Washington Each Monday

Columbus, Feb. 27—U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis will speak on Saturdays only during the campaign which terminates with the Ohio presidential primaries on April 24. This announcement was made today at Willis headquarters by Col. Carmi A. Thompson, manager of the campaign on behalf of Willis for the Republican presidential nomination. Thompson said that Willis is scheduled to speak at Wellston, Jackson County, next Saturday night.

"My plans are very decided on this proposition," Thompson stated. "Senator Wills' speaking itinerary will be arranged so that he will make addresses on Saturdays only and be back at Washington D. C., each Monday morning, ready for his duties in Congress.

"No votes on important matters are taken in the United States Senate on Saturdays, I am informed. By means of this plan, Senator Willis will be able to participate in the campaign without neglecting his duties as United States Senator," Thompson stated. Thompson said that it was planned to have Willis make two speeches each Saturday.

Charles A. Jones, private secretary to Senator Willis, who was at Willis state headquarters during the past two weeks, was back in Washington today. Thompson said that Jones probably would return to state headquarters here next week.

With former Secretary of State Tiad H. Brown, manager of Hoover's presidential campaign in Ohio, out of the city, there was a lull in campaign activities today at Hoover state headquarters.

Two Forged Checks Drawn on Marion Steam Shovel Co. Received by Savings Bank

One Cashed by Cleveland Hotel and Other by Store at Lima; Both Made Payable to "P. Patten;" Detective Bureau at Work on Case

Two forged checks drawn on the Marion Steam Shovel Co., one for $19 and the other for $30, were received through the mail by the Marion Savings Bank, Friday and Saturday, and as a result authorities are increasing their efforts to locate the source of the forgery operations, which began several weeks ago.

The checks received last week are of the same type as one which arrived at the local bank from Toledo on Jan. 5, the only difference being in the amounts and the names of the payees.

All are designed to represent payroll checks, having the name of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. printed at the top and over the signature line. They bear the forged signature of Frank A. Huber, former president and treasurer of the company.

The check received Friday, amounting to $19, was cashed at the Auditorium Hotel in Cleveland and the one which came in Saturday, drawn for $30, was cashed at a store in Lima and deposited with the Lima Trust Co.

Payable to "P. Patten"

Both checks were made payable to "P. Patten." They came to the Marion Savings Bank through the regular clearance procedure. Both were dated Feb. 18.

The first of the three forgeries, dated Jan. 3, was cashed at a department store in Toledo. It was made out to "David Baxter," with a box number at the local postoffice given as the address.

Investigation showed that no one by that name had ever rented a postoffice box here. It is believed that

LOS ANGELES MAKES STEADY SPEED SOUTH

Big Ship Expected To Arrive at Destination About 10 O'Clock Tonight

50-MILE HOUR SPEED

Colon Makes Plans for Enthusiastic Welcome to Crew of Craft

Washington, Feb. 27—The naval dirigible Los Angeles is making steady progress on her non-stop flight to Panama.

A message to the Navy Department today from Lieut. Com. C. E. Rosendahl, aboard the dirigible, reported that she had passed Santa Cruz Del Sur (Cuba) at 6:40 a. m., and that the weather was favorable.

A later wireless from Commander Rosendahl reported the big dirigible was off South Negril Point, Jamaica, at 10:07 E. S. T.

The message said the ship had averaged 50 miles an hour from Cuba to that point, and had about 630 miles yet to cover before arriving in Panama. On this schedule, Navy officials said the Los Angeles would be due in Panama about 10 o'clock tonight.

No Speed Record

No speed record is being attempted. The trip, Navy officials explained, is merely to try out the air worthiness of the dirigible on a "long practice cruise."

When the dirigible left her hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., at 6:55 a. m. Sunday morning, Commander Rosendahl was not certain whether he would try to make Panama or not.

The ship, however, performed so well on the long voyage down the Atlantic Coast and over Florida that Rosendahl elected to go on to Panama, 2,500 miles from Lakehurst.

Because of the cold weather, building at both the new Palace Theater and the new C., D. & M. station on W. Center-st. is progressing slowly. Some concrete is being poured at the new theater and trenches are being dug for foundations at the front of the building.

Bricklayers, who resumed work at the C., D. & M. station Friday were unable to work Saturday because of the drop in the temperature.

Contractors and builders in general are looking forward to a busy season which they believe will start with the coming of favorable weather. Plans for the building of a large number of dwellings, it is said, are being made by local builders.

KNEW LINCOLN

Wife of Former Marion Man Describes Emancipator

An interesting picture of Abraham Lincoln as his friends knew him was given by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wyatt, wife of Charles E. Wyatt of New York City, who formerly conducted a farm implement store in this city, in an interview which appeared in the New York Telegram for Feb. 13.

Mrs. Wyatt, who is 75 years old knew Lincoln as a "struggling young lawyer" and when he was "poor as a church mouse" but a faithful friend of the widows and fatherless." She was born on an Indiana farm, but came with her mother, her father having died in her infancy, to Springfield, Ill., as a child. There Lincoln aided the young widow in caring for her property, in the capacity of lawyer. As a child she attended all Lincoln's addresses.

"Yes, I guess Lincoln was homely, but his homeliness seemed to melt away when you knew him," Mrs. Wyatt said. Mrs. Wyatt further told of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln's deep sorrow upon the death of their second boy, Eddie, when Mrs. Lincoln had the woodwork in some of the rooms of their home painted black.

Although Mrs. Wyatt never resided here, Mr. Wyatt was born in Marion County and lived here until about 15 years ago. His old home was at the intersection of Windsor and W. Columbia-sts. He now has two cousins residing here, Mrs. J. E. Smith, W. Church-st, and Mrs. Z. E. Gunder, 564 E. Center-st.

Intimate Glimpses into the Lives of Members of the Marion County Bar

BY HARRY S. LLLIOTT

IN the gloomy recesses of a second floor stairway in the N. Main st business section of Marion stands an ancient bicycle, covered with the dust of almost a quarter of a century.

Although having all the appearance of an ordinary cast-off piece of property no longer fit for use, the bicycle can be neither classed as ordinary nor a has been.

It is the vehicle on which John H. Clark, then a young lawyer striving to get a foothold in his chosen professional rode to victory in 1904 as the Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney. Clark is preserving the antiquated conveyance as a memento of his campaign, which not only resulted in his election but gave him his start on a successful law practice.

JOHN H. CLARK

Begins Practice in 1900

After being admitted to the bar on July 9, 1900, Clark established his office at 115 N. Main st and began the period of "watchful waiting" for business, which is invariably a part of the experience of every new attorney. Incidentally, his office is still at the same location, although the days of watchful waiting ended long ago.

When 1904 arrived, Clark had picked up a scattering practice but not enough to warrant exceptional enthusiasm on his part. So he decided to seek election as prosecuting attorney, although he was a Republican and up to that time few of his party had succeeded in landing office in Marion County. This fact had for many years had been ranked as about an impregnable Democratic stronghold.

But Clark had fourth ideas and plenty of spare time and was confident that by making the campaign of his life he could put over a winning campaign.

No other Republican would enter the contest and Clark went to Clark's political opponents. In fact, party leaders had considerable fun joking about his air of supreme confidence in the prospects of victory.

But in the end the young attorney was in position to give fresh proof of the aforesaid that "he who fights and runs away lives to fight another day."

Visits Every Home

Clark started out on his campaign and spent [illegible] visiting every [illegible] city of Marion during the campaign and carried out his resolve although at the outset it appeared to be almost a superhuman undertaking.

Purchasing a second handed bicycle at a local store, he mounted it on the first Monday of June 1904 and started on his tour of the county, which then had few improved roads. Before beginning his journey, which was to continue day in and day out, 6 days each week until the election in November, he provided himself with maps showing all of the highways and side-roads.

Rides 1,400 Miles

When the job was completed he had ridden approximately 1,400 miles. And while pedaling over rural roads in the daytime he had covered residence districts in the city at night on foot.

When the votes were counted, Clark had defeated his Democratic opponent by a majority of 900. He was the second Republican to be elected prosecuting attorney in a county since Civil War years.

That, Clark says, was the hardest [illegible] he has ever done as a lawyer or any other line of activity.

John H. Clark was born on a farm in Bowling Green Township, May 19, 1872 the son of Nathan Clark who died in 1881. Nathan Clark and a brother, [illegible] were among the early settlers of Bowling Green Township. Mr. J. H. Clark resided the pole-line Democratic territory on his bicycle in 1904 and rolled a majority of [illegible] votes, the first Republican candidate ever to do that [illegible].

Graduates in 1899

After [illegible] in the schools of Morgan Township and Rose High [illegible] Clark attended Ohio Northern University at Ada, graduating there [illegible] in 1899.

The legal profession was his choice for a life career from the beginning. He can recall making his [illegible] known to some of his boy [illegible] when he was 12 years of age.

Before starting preparations for the practice of law, Clark taught country school in Marion and Hardin counties and also obtained valuable experience in farming. This knowledge of farming is particularly helpful now, for in addition to his legal business, he owns and operates three farms and does so at a substantial profit.

His business enterprises and profession do not prevent Clark from giving a liberal amount of time and attention to other interests and diversions.

Amateur Athlete

He ranks as one of the city's most prominent leaders in amateur athletics, being given credit for having done more than any other man in making local recreational baseball a success.

He takes especial pride in the record made by a class of young men which he has caught at the Epworth M. E. Sunday School for approximately 27 years. This class, one of the largest of its kind in the country, now has an enrollment of 160. Its members are young men whose ages range from 17 to 30 years. During the World War, 110 of Clark's Sunday School pupils served in the American military forces.

Clark is a trustee of Ohio Northern University having served as a member of the board since 1905, six years after his graduation from the law school there.

Fraternally, he is a member of Marion Lodge No. 402, Knights of Pythias, all Masonic bodies, and Lime City Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Clark's home is at 301 Franklin-st.

MRS. LINDBERGH IS CONVENTION FIGURE

Mother of "Lone Eagle" Finds She Is Immensely Popular at Meetings

Boston, Feb. 27—Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, school teacher, mother of the "Lone Eagle," was the central figure today at the opening of the annual convention of the National Education Associatoin.

Although she desired to attend some of the 32 separate meetings with the 15,000 other delegates as an ordinary school teacher, the Detroit woman found herself so immensely popular that special arrangements were made to make sure that no accident befalls her while she goes about the city. Special service by a special bell-boy was provided at her hotel and a policeman, in uniform, was detailed to guard her.

Recognition of dull pupils, importance of intelligence tests, advocation of changes in school mechanics, objectives in education—both mental and physical—and the importance of character guidance, were among the subjects stressed in addresses at the various convention meetings today by famous educators from all sections of the country.

To Get Medal

Mrs. Lindbergh attended some of the meetings. At the closing session of the convention, March 1, she will be presented with the association gold emblem medal in recognition of the aviation achievement of her son. The latter is expected here that night.

Col. Charles Lindbergh's mother flew here from Detroit with Miss Maude Dawson, who like Mrs. Lindbergh, is a teacher in the Cass Technical High School, that city. Supt. Frank Cody of Detroit headed a big delegation of citizens. The plane was flown in zero weather by Lieut. Albert Hagenberger, the Pan-... flier, and Lieut. Harry John...

In interviews, Mrs. Lindbergh said that she didn't bring up her son—he was like "Topsy" in that he just "growed"—that children should be ... disciplined.

BANDITS CAPTURED, MOST OF LOOT TAKEN

into a rear coach. A dynamite bomb blew away the mail-car door. After bags of currency had been seized and thrown into a large automobile, the bandits piled into the car and sped away. The entire "job" took less than six minutes.

There were only seven telephone lines out of the little hamlet of Evergreen Park. All of these had been cut, showing that the robbery had been carefully planned in advance. But the alarm quickly spread and within an hour Chicago police officials, postoffice inspectors and county highways officers had begun what appears to be a record cleanup for a major robbery.

Loot Divided

K. P. Aldrich, chief postal inspector for the Chicago district, declared he was prepared to go before the Federal Grand Jury today "and obtain indictments as fast as the jury can vote them."

Just what part of the train robbery loot has been recovered in the series of raids on half a dozen homes, Deputy O'Connor would not say. The exact sum will not be announced, he said, until the investigation is completed.

From their captives, police learned the loot was divided into seven shares of $17,000 each, with $14,000 set aside as a legal defense fund in case of emergency. All but two of the actual bandits are said to be in custody.

Information that led to the gang's downfall is said to have come from Mrs. William Donovan, wife of one of the men held. She is said to have talked freely to police after becoming enraged over the conduct of her husband.

Calls His "Sweetie"

Another incident which hastened the roundup was Charley Cleaver's haste to celebrate the "successful holdup." He bought a few drinks and then called his "sweetie." Police wire-tappers were listening in.

Cleaver referred to a sum of money he was sending her—part of his share of the holdup loot.

"But that isn't enough to get the fur coat I want," she told him. "If you don't send me more, I'll spill what I know to the police."

Cleaver is said to have become panic stricken and called up his "buddies" in the crime, advising them to "get out of town."

And then the police roundup began.

The hearing, which opened at 10 o'clock, was expected to last throughout the day. Judge Virgil H. Gibbs, assistant attorney general, and Prosecuting Attorney Frank Wiedemann appeared as counsel for the state and county and W. P. Moloney represented the C., D. & M.

W. R. Shank, auditor for the tax commission of Ohio, was present to assist in the defense.

The tax value, as fixed by the state commission on Sept. 19 of last year, is $3,361,211. This figure, the C., D. & M. alleges, is approximately $300,000 in excess of a fair and reasonable valuation.

The company's petition also charges that methods used by the state commission in arriving at utility company valuations are faulty.

The valuation as established by the commission covers all of the C., D. & M. property on its lines extending from Columbus to Marion with exception of that not used in actual operations.

In the appeal action, County Auditor Earl E. Thomas and the state tax commission are named as defendants.

Denied Divorce

Lena A. Greenawalt, plaintiff in a divorce suit brought against Charles A. Greenawalt, of LaRue, was denied a decree by Judge Scofield following hearing of her suit in Common Pleas Court this morning.

The petition was dismissed after the court had heard witness for the plaintiff. Mrs. Greenawalt sought a decree on grounds of gross neglect and extreme crusity.

The law firm of Stickle & Cessna of Kenton represented the plaintiff, and L. E. Myers was attorney for the defendant.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenawalt were married Nov. 23, 1919, and have three children, aged four, six and seven years.

Claims Filed

In an answer and cross petition filed in the Court of Common Pleas today by Charles L. Rinker, administrator of the estate of Sophia Rinker, two claims totaling $3,509.80 are filed against Ernest Thieme and Clara Thieme with the request that this amount be recognized as a lien against their interest in the property.

The money is due, it is alleged, on judgments obtained against them by Sophia Rinker.

The answer and cross petition was filed in connection with a suit brought for partition of the estate, which consists of properties in Caledonia and Claridon Township. John H. Clark is attorney in the case.

Partition Sought

Partition of the estate of Jane Raub, deceased is sought in a suit filed brought in the Court of Common Pleas today by Silas A. Raub, in which he named Susie Raub and others as defendants.

The petition, field through attorney John H. Clark, also asks that an accounting of rents and profits be required that she has had exclusive possession of the property since the death of Jane Raub on Feb. 27, 1927.

The estate consists of a residence property in LaRue.

Claims Set Up

Three answers and cross petitions, setting up claims against the defendants, were filed in the Court of Common Pleas today in the suit of the Terry Provision Co. against John Felmuth, O. C. Houser and Jacob M. Houser, an auction involving the affairs of a meat shop located at 299 Pearl-st.

The Columbus Packing Co. seeks judgment for $156.07, the Sidney Packing Co., $218.74 and the G. H. Hammond Co., $77.77. The three answers and cross petitions, one from each firm, were filed through Attorney John H. Clark.

The firms join with other creditors in asking that O. C. Houser and John Felmuth be designated as trustees and that they make an accounting. It is charged that ownership of the meat shop was transferred without legal notice to creditors.

$475,000,000 TO BE COLLECTED IN MARCH

Last-Minute Check on Income Taxes Made by Treasury Officials

Washington, Feb. 27—A last-minute check by Treasury statisticians today indicated that the government will collect about $475,000,000 in income taxes on March 15, where $510,000,000 had been anticipated last October.

If the March estimate is substantially correct and if corporation taxes fall off 10 per cent as expected by Secretary Mellon, the total revenue from this source for the year will be somewhat over $2,000,000,000, a drop of more than $100,000,000 from 1926-1927.

While payment of but one-quarter of the tax on 1927 incomes is due March 15, returns filed that date will indicate the total annual revenue and will put the treasury in a position to estimate revenue for 1929 with considerable accuracy.

A considerable reduction in the March collection would indicate an even greater drop in March, 1929, statisticians said.

A surplus on June 30 of over $900,000,000 apparently is assured, but the anticipated reduction in revenue and increase in proposed congressional appropriations are dragging down the estimated $252,000,000 surplus of 1929 according to officials.

Back taxes and repayment of railroad loans will cut the 1929 receipts from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000 below that of 1928.

by a prospective buyer of a home to look over the house before he completed the purchase.

Cites Errors

Going into the basement, the chief said, he found the furnace had been installed with the top but two inches from the rafters. Some day there will be a fire at that house that could have been prevented by proper building inspection, the chief said.

The chief also told of a call the department had answered some time ago where a house had caught fire from a chimney. An investigation showed that the chimney had rested on a wooden platform which in turn rested on a brace of two-by-fours. When soot which had accumulated in the chimney caught fire and dropped down on the wooden platform, a fire resulted that destroyed the platform and the braces, permitting the chimney to fall, and setting fire to the house.

While it has not been definitely established just how extensive the inspection will be, should the office be created, three things that will be insisted on, city councilmen say, will be the inspection of chimneys, wiring and sewer connections.

TWO FORGED CHECKS ARE RECEIVED HERE

Both Drawn on Marion Steam Shovel Co.; Cashed at Lima and Cleveland

"Baxter" and "Patton" are one and the same.

Regulation Checks Used

All three checks are printed on the regulation form of counter check used by the Marion Savings Bank and are so cleverly executed that it is probably a comparatively easy matter for the forger to cash them in other cities.

The forgery, however, would be readily detected in Marion, officials state. The Marion Steam Shovel Co. has never had an account at the Marion Savings Bank and Mr. Huber, whose name appears on the checks, has not been treasurer of the steam shovel company for more than six months.

Because of the fact that the forger went to the trouble and expense of having the company's name printed on the checks, it is thought probable that his operations may have been on a large scale.

His plan, apparently, is to allow considerable time to elapse between cashing of the checks in order to avoid detection.

The detective bureau of the state and national bankers' associations have their operatives at work on the case, it was stated today. These organizations have also sent notices to banks throughout the country, warning them to be on their guard.

...ing when the report of Harry Brooks' fatal crash into the sea gave way to despair.

Surrounded by her daughters and her husband in the little frame house on Twelve Mile rd, Mrs. Brooks bore the shock with Spartan courage. The blow had come suddenly and unexpectedly Saturday night.

Neighbor Gives News

There Mr. and Mrs. Brooks and their youngest daughter, Mrs. Melburn Cooper, were seated in the small living room. Their radio was not working. They did not hear the fatal tidings broadcast over the country by Detroit stations.

Mrs. Manly Johnson, a neighbor, telephoned the news of the accident to them at 9 p. m.

"It can't be true," Mrs. Brooks exclaimed.

Harry always sent telegrams to his mother when he left the city. No matter where his services were called in the interest of aviation, he wired his mother daily.

Friday he sent this message to his family from Titusville. "Doctor advised me to keep quiet. Will wire when I leave Miami. Love, Harry."

There was no message Saturday, the first time Harry failed his mother. She was worried, but did not fear for her son's safety.

Then Saturday night and the fatal telephone call.

NO LIVESTOCK LOST HERE IN FOUR WEEKS

Effectiveness of New Dog License Law Shown in Report to Commissioners

Ohio's new dog license law continues to show evidence of effective operation in Marion County, where no livestock losses from raids by canines have been reported for four successive weeks.

This is one of the most favorable records in Marion County over a long period of years, officials report. They give a large share of the credit to the new license law, which has resulted in practically all stray dogs in the county being rounded up by the dog warden and his assistants.

The report of Warden Dale Rhoads for last week, the fourth in succession showing no damage from sheep-killing canines, was filed with the county commissioners Saturday.

Six dogs were seized and impounded by the warden during the week. Three came from Prospect and one each from LaRue, Grand township and N. Main-st in the city of Marion.

All were killed after being held three days as required by law.

ONE RESPONDS

Services at Calvary Evangelical Church Well Attended

One person responded to an invitation to the altar at the well-attended service last night at Calvary Evangelical Church. A special song service was held and the devotionals were conducted by A. J. Houghton and Michael Cluck. Rev. E. Radebaugh, pastor, preached the sermon, based on Second Samuel 12: 13-14.

He said in part, "This picture of David's sin, although sad, is no sadder than many others today. The devil was too strong for David and led him into a trap. The devil still is doing his utmost to corner his victims. The difference between obituaries written by God and man is God gives both sides of a man's character and man's obituaries, are, too frequently, one-sided.

"We are all tempted, even Christ, but He alone remained sinless. We are all priests and Christ is our high priest, but when we become sinners He ceased to be our priest and becomes our lawyer or advocate in the court of heaven, and pleads for our forgiveness. When God forgives us of our sins he gives us that assurance, and we know we have passed into a saving relationship with Him."

Overcoats belonging to policemen and valued at $1,000 were stolen from the cloakroom while 200 policemen of Salt Lake City were enjoying their annual ball. It's a mighty mean lot of sneakthieves they have out there, to show up the city's "finest" like that!

A $15,000,000 issue of bonds drawing five-and-a-half per cent., proffered in London by the Northcliffe Newspapers, Ltd., was oversubscribed $110,000,000 inside of fifteen minutes. Despite all the stories of British poverty, somebody over there manifestly has money for investment purposes.

The Hon. William Gibbs McAdoo is charging that the Hon. Al Smith is helping to nullify the Volstead law. Manifestly the sore spots left by that big Democratic gathering in New York four years ago have not yet even begun to heal.

"Jackson Ignores Churches' Demand for His Resignation," reads a headline. Evidently the Hoosier governor figures that a gubernatorial bird in the hand is worth a whole flock of 'em in the political bush, especially when it's a cinch that he will never again get a look-in at the political bush.

One gang of bandits holds up a train at Evergreen Park, Illinois, and makes off with $100,000, and another sticks up the employes of a bank at Kansas City, Missouri, and escapes with $50,000. It begins to look very much as though the "Wild West" was but temporarily tamed.

William J. Brittain, of Hull, England, appeared in evening clothes at a recent public dinner there wearing a soft shirt, open at the neck, with a flaring roll collar similar to the sport model. If mankind will take the hint and profit by it, throwing off its starched shackles, there will be another candidate for the title of "Great Emancipator."

In a word, Premier Bethlen, of Hungary, tells the League of Nations that his government proposes to get rid of those five carloads of machine guns shipped from Italy, and he theoretically makes a face at the League while asking: "What are you going to do about it?"

A Clevelander has started a campaign to save the girls from cigarets regardless of the fate of the men folks, holding that men smokers are committed to the habit and will be dead before they reach forty, anyway. He must figure that all the men cigaret smokers of the Forest City ar going to move to the Windy.

A Probable New Industry.

It is beyond the range of possibility even to estimate to the full what the Marion-Cowardin engine will mean to this city if it comes up to the expectations of the officials of the subsidiary company of the Marion Steam Shovel company organized to develop and manufacture it. That the manufacturing of such an engine locally would mean much to Marion goes without the saying.

From our news columns we glean that the basic principle of the new engine is a system which atomizes the fuel, a mixture of oil and air, into a cloud which is ignited by sparks, resulting in the operation of the pistons similar to the functioning of a gasolene engine. It is stated that the local engine is adapted to low-priced fuel, assuring economy in operation, and is smaller and lighter than the Diesel engine, which has of late attained marked popularity. In the latter engine, fuel combustion is obtained by having the oil strike a heated plate and, as a consequence, less speed and power are attained than is believed to be possible with the local engine.

The experimental work, which has been in progress for about a year, locally, has reached its final stage, and in the anticipated event that the final tests prove satisfactory, removing all possibility of doubt regarding the efficiency and dependability of the engine, it is planned to begin its manufacture for the market at once.

The Diesel engine has proved so economical in the matter of space occupied by it and operation that its progress in supplanting the steam engine has been amazing. If the local engine, lighter, occupying less space and more economical in operation, is demonstrated to be more powerful, there can hardly be a limit to the demand for it. To meet such a demand more workmen will have to be employed, and in such employment the city will reap the highest benefit. It's the money which goes into the pay envelope of the wage-earner which makes business hum; it's the backbone of a city's prosperity.

A successful Marion-Cowardin engine will prove of inestimable benefit to Marion.

An Old Circus Act Recalled.

The announcement in the last minutes of the death in Miami, Florida, of Pat Sickney, at the age of eighty-one, very probably didn't bring back to the younger generation of to-day who have attained or passed the middle years of life the superb thrills of a third of a century and more ago.

Pat Sickney was actually the great circus star back in the days of the famous team when the circus ushered in all barriers ridden and the pace, if not the superior of any barebacking rider of any time. Where the rider of today accomplishes his feat if he stands upright with his horse in moderate motion, Sickney, facing tailward, and, if we remember correctly, was the only rider who ever turned a double somersault from a horse's back.

His death notice states that Sickney was the only man who ever jumped from a spring board over twenty elephants. We believe this to be an error, not because he couldn't perform the feat, but simply because there wasn't any show in Sickney's active circus career with twenty elephants over which to jump. But twice a day during the circus season he jumped, year after year, over twenty horses, a camel or two, a dromedary, and two or three elephants, and he turned a triple somersault in the air while doing it.

And right here let us make a confession. The circus of today is almost immeasurably larger than that of forty to fifty years ago; it has ten features to one of the earlier shows; its menagerie is much larger in the number of wild animals shown if not in number of species and its arena trained animal acts were unknown in the old days, but the death announcement of Sickney calls to mind one feature unknown to the circus of today—that of leaping over a large number of animals and a pyramid of performers centered above the group. To us this feature was alike the most pleasing and thrilling on the entire program, and we haven't thought overly much of the circus since this feature was cut out.

We have seen men catapulted from cars running down inclined planes; we have seen men shot out of cannons by a great spring to the accompaniment of a little noise and smoke from an explosion of a little powder in a separate barrel of the cannon; we have seen a number of mathematically-worked out acts such as those where all the ability involved was that of the fellow who figured the distance to place the net from the plane or cannon, but for a beautiful, graceful act requiring personal ability, we have never seen anything under canvas to equal the spring-board flights of the old-time circus, and we wish the circuses of today, if there are athletes capable of performing it, would restore the act to their programs.

Terms in prison aggregating ninety-six years and thirty-six lashes were the sentences given five youthful bandits up in Montreal, last week, for the attempted holding-up of a butcher and his son, and the youthful bandits will not be committed to a reformatory, to be paroled after a year or such a matter, but will have to serve out the full terms of their sentences. How different from the namby-pambly treatment of young bandits down here!

Legislative Time-Wasting.

Wets and drys in the Rhode Island house of representatives clashed, last week over the proper wording of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and after two days a special committee was appointed to investigate and report its finding tomorrow, Tuesday.

According to a Providence wire, the trouble started following the Washington birthday anniversary exercises, when the third verse was read like this:

"Old Glory" to greet now come hither,
With eyes full of love to the brim:
May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither,
Nor a star on the banner grow dim.

At this point a member asserted that the verse should have been read:

The wine cup, the wine cup bring hither,
And fill ye it up to the brim,
May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither,
Nor a star of our banner grow dim.

This was challenged by a woman representative, and other verbal clashes followed, the upshot being the appointment of the committee to delve into the matter and report as stated.

There has long been dispute regarding the authorship of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." The idea is said to have originated with David T. Shaw, but it is rather generally held that the actual words were written by another in 1843. If that is the correct date, there's a strong probability that the second version is the proper one, for it reads more smoothly and chiefly, because back in 1843 the wine cup was far more in evidence in poetry and song than it is today.

However, no matter which version may be the correct one, why should the legislators of a state, even though it be a decidedly minute one, waste time at the expense of the people of Rhode Island to investigate the correct wording of a song, especially when the report of the committee selected will in no way authenticate the wording, one way or another?

If such matters must be gone into, why can not the various state legislative bodies remain passive and permit the United States senate, which makes a specialty of wasting time and money in investigations, delve into them?

Since it has developed that Colonel Lindbergh paid all the expenses of his trip southward from the time he left our border until his return to this country, even the enemies of this government will have to admit that he is some booster of the "inspiration" of which they charged he was the prophet.

We are not to say a word against the world's warm admirer of Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale, but when he says that "after a recent canvass of all economists in the United States I have failed to find one of them willing to testify that prohibition is not a factor in the great movement by which the nation is abolishing poverty," we haven't a doubt but what he states a truism that will defy contradiction. The economic value of prohibition is beyond question.

Keep the Nose Clear.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A great many people do not get as much air as they need, because there is some obstruction in the nose. They struggle along without an abundance of oxygen, apparently unconscious of the fact that the nasal passages are so interfered with that the quantity of air taken is much below the amount needed.

There is hardly a part of North America where the citizens are free from what we call "catarrhal troubles." Catarrh is found everywhere and catarrh is responsible chiefly for nasal obstruction.

What is catarrh? Anything which results in an abnormal secretion of mucous membranes, wherever they are found in the body, is known to the medical profession as catarrh. When this term is applied to trouble in the nose, however, it is given a wider meaning than I have here indicated.

There is a trouble given the popular name "dry catarrh." Of course, this is a misnomer, because the word "catarrh" indicates a flow of mucus, so there could not be such a thing as a flow of mucus and at the same dryness of the tissues.

Then, too, we often meet a disturbance of the nose where there is obstruction to the breathing without any increase or decrease in the secretion of mucus. The trouble is also associated with the condition termed as "catarrh."

I think it may be said in all truth that practically all disturbances of the nose which end in any catharrhal trouble can be traced back to repeated colds.

If for any reason whatever a person has one cold after another, the tissues inside the nose become thickened. This thickness may increase gradually, but after a while it becomes so pronounced that it acts really as a plug to interfere with the intake of air.

Inside the nose are three shelves of bone, called the "turbinated bones." Overlying these bones, passing over the top of each shelf, around the edge and underneath it, and then reflected upon the next shelf, and so on, is mucous membrane.

In long continued catarrh, this membrane becomes increased in thickness until the nose is obstructed as I have indicated.

When the trouble has been well established, it may be necessary for the nose specialist to snare out a little of this tissue. He does this not so much with the idea of removing material which obstructs the nasal passage, as for the purpose of providing a certain amount of scar tissue.

This scar tissue contracts and binds down the mucous membrane. It acts much as the quilting procedure does where the yarn binds the two surfaces of the bed quilt together. You can see that this procedure will do away with the possibility of swelling of the tissues when the next cold comes, and so will help to remove the obstruction.

On another occasion I will tell you more about the causes and treatment of catarrhal troubles.

Vagrant Verse.

TWO LIVES.

Do you recall that February night
When we met first? Young faces gay and fair,
Were all about us. Down the perfumed air
Sweet music fell. The room was very bright,
And jewels glinted in the rosy light
Like tiny flames. I saw you sitting there,
But one of many. Then—had heaven a care
That I should hand you cakes, and see you right?

I heard your voice, nor dreamed of looking down,
Passed on, unthinking, since the chains were Spain's,
Forgot your name—your face—as strangers do,
So little too long dividing my two lives.
That one, which knew you not, nor knew its bane,
And this one which is yours, and is all you.
—Ethel Brooks Stillwell.

Editorial Comment.

INTO THE GREAT FOREST.

With the ceremony of unmasking accomplished and the proclamation of a new name, the Ku Klux Klan, second edition, passes, let us hope, into history. The reasons for its conversion are the same in essentials as those which caused the demise of the original order, namely, the abuse of power by its hooded mobs and the consequent antagonism of respectable opinion. The imperial wizard, to be sure, has another explanation. He speaks of the Klan's having achieved its purpose, that of stopping unrestricted immigration. But if this was a Klan achievement it is news to the country at large, and since it is now several years old one can only wonder that the tactics presumably responsible for it—the mysterious gatherings under the moon and the chastisement of village cut-ups—were not abandoned long ago.

There was never the justification for the formation of this second Klan that the first had in the disorders of reconstruction. Its membership, though much larger for a brief period than that of its older namesake, has never been of as high an order and, if this is in fact its swan song, it has lasted for a shorter period. The American public can congratulate itself that an organization founded on vindictive prejudice and given to a combination of flubdub and intimidation has apparently withered so soon in the free air of our institutions.

One can safely predict a future of innocuous insignificanse for its successor, the Knights of the Great Forest. The name itself suggests a consciousness, possibly a wish, on the part of its sponsors that this once fiercely challenging order will lose itself among the Owls and the Elks, among the Red Men and the Woodmen, among the Eagles and the Moose and the Tall Cedars of Lebanon and the scores of other fraternal orders that rather wistfully adorn a workaday world with sylvan ritual. Perhaps an equally appropriate title would have been Babes in the Wood.—New York Herald Tribune.

OUR FLATTERING CRITIC.

Accepting a compliment gracefully is the finishing touch of good manners, whether it is a woman or a nation that bows her thanks. T. P. O'Connor sailed for America, with many pleasant words on his lips for his prospective hosts. The journey is made this time for his health, for "Tay Pay" is in his eightieth year, and an ocean voyage is both relaxing and energizing. If he speaks gallantly to American ladies after his arrival, they will know how to blow smiling kisses to one who has himself kissed the Blarney stone.

What our authors are to do is another matter. On the eve of his departure Mr. O'Connor said that they can no longer be denied the first position in modern literature. His English and Irish friends may rave in protest, but he puts the weight of eighty years and much reading and writing behind his judgment. America has "produced the greatest books." Good manner require an acknowledgment of some sort. Our writers can not smile smugly and admit the soft impeachment. They are too modest to do that, even if they agreed in their hearts. Yet how can they deny it? An Irish gentleman and scholar must not be accused of making pretty speeches on so serious a subject. Our unlucky authors are evidently put in a trying position.

Perhaps our friendly critic meant "best" when he said "greatest." If best was in the back of his mind, so was "seller." To a genial Irishman about to pay a call on friends who write, their best sellers are great books. Many American novels have recently done well in the British market. There is much curiosity about American life over there just now, and some of our novelists satisfy it in spectacular fashion. London wants to know about the daily life of ordinary Middle Westerners, Hollywood dolls, the Greenwich Village intellectuals, negroes, hickory trees, night life in New York and Tennessee mountaineers. Our writers tell them every racy detail. If this be greatness, make the most of it.—New York Times.

Old Sol Comes Swinging Up.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

No matter what winter may do, he is too late. He has got Sol but on the hook. Then the last of February sometimes sees the coldest weather of the entire season. But then it can't last. It is only a belated blast from the north-pole country. It is a cheering thing to watch in spring the upcoming of the sun from his winter lodge in the south. Most people, I fear, take it as a matter of course and don't notice the phenomenon at all. He comes with the resistless march of a conqueror, steadily pushing the rosy day and spreading waves of brightening light before him. Swiftly the reflection from his golden chariot thundering along the horizon of the zodiac, sweeps westward under the horizon at sunset, until from west it begins to glide around farther and farther toward the north. Then out of the burning sunset seem to come the first faint odors of the vernal flowers.

The ancients, less dulled of sense than we, built altars and great temples to solemnize the march of the vivifying sun. They hailed him with paeans and celebrations and processions in the golden land of the pyramids; and in the ruder abodes of humanity they built bonfires in his honor on heaven-high mountain altars. We, who sometimes condescend to have a sundial in our dooryard, might at least mark the boundary lines of the sun-god's advance and retreat as he alternately allows the winter to descend upon us, burying the lawn with snow and then drives off the cold invader and brings back the lilacs and the robins.

At the winter solstice, about December 22, the sun is 23½ degrees below the equator, and, in latitude forty degrees north, it rises and sets about thirty-one degrees south of the east and west points, respectively. At noon it is only 26½ degrees above the center of the southern horizon.

By the 1st of February the sun has risen until it is only about 17½ degrees below the equator, and rises and sets about twenty-three degrees south of the east and west points. At noon it is about 32½ degrees above the southern horizon. The daylight is lengthening, though still several hours shorter than the night.

By March 1 the sun is only 7½ degrees below the equator, and its rising and setting points are, respectively, about eleven degrees south of east and west. At noon the sun is 42½ degrees above the southern horizon. Daylight is approaching equality with night.

March 21 the sun is on the equator and rises and sets exactly east and west. Its height above the southern horizon at noon, in forty degrees north latitude, is fifty degrees. Daylight and night are of equal length all over the world.

After that, daylight in our latitudes gains in length on night, until, about June 21, the summer solstice arrives. The sun is then 23½ degrees north of the equator and this altitude above the southern horizon at noon is 73½ degrees, or only 16½ degrees south of the zenith. At that time he rises and sets about thirty-one degrees north of the east and west points. For hours in the forenoon and afternoon he shines on the north side of houses. It is the heyday of King Sol throughout the northern world. He sails uninterruptedly around the North pole at a height of 23½ degrees above the horizon, and all over the mighty Arctic circle perpetual day reigns. Around the edge of that circle, at a time corresponding to midnight elsewhere, the sun just skims the horizon, as if he were about to set; but it is a joke, for immediately he swings into an upward curve and goes rejoicing around the sky once more—a gay old sun-god with a warming smile.

There was a time when I was quite content to have the sun go off for an annual vacation in the southern hemisphere, letting the sportive snowflakes meanwhile turn our side of the world into a playground; but now I like to have the sun with us. He "never comes a peep too soon, nor brings too long a day."—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

McIntyre at Sea.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

At Sea, Feb. 27 — The good ship, Paris plows sturdily through a calm sea for Havre. It cruised off with one of those hectic midnight sailings so popular these days, with passengers in evening dress, as though going to a grand ball. Many had wobbly sea legs before they went over the gang plank.

The voyage began annoyingly. At breakfast a slightly catarrhal British lady with a pink neck sat across the aisle, inspecting me through a lorgnon. It was the vacuous state of one looking at nothing, but the drowning man, it seemed to make my miserable life swim before me.

As a downright snooty sneer at a poor digestion, I began the day with café au lait swimming in brown butter. Embarking on the fourteenth crossing, I have come to believe precautions against sea sickness are as futile as telling a movie star he is not so hot.

Anyway, if you have to cross the ocean sipping weak tea, propped up in bed straining a feeble mentality, thinking up a three-letter word meaning a tar container, you might as well stay home and have your fling doing some work for the children.

There are a number of whos whose aboard. Kathleen and Charles Norris—Charles with golf trousers evidently designed by Urban, featuring black knee tassels. Ray Long, off to England to interview authors, as though they were not all in America lecturing. Lois Gould and her husband, Tod Browning, a movie director. Vincent Youmans, the composer.

Claire Luce, who gavottes on suspended mirrors for Ziegfeld, who, I hear, is doing well in the show business. Bruce Reynolds, who authored "Cocktail Continentale," and also sports milk white spats with pale blue buttons.

And Mr. Collis. I must tell you about him. He came up the gangplank with a waddling trained sea lion, known affectionately as Herbert. My dog took to Herbert immediately, sipping him near a forward fin and receiving a nice tail slap in the face which sent him spinning across the deck into a puzzled scowl.

There is a gentleman from Peru in an adjoining cabin, who is the spit image of the late Valentino. He seems amiable enough, having up to date borrowed three articles of unnecessary toilet equipment, a fountain pen and a shirt stud. When he asks for my tooth brush I'm going to display a bark that is pure Peruvian.

I seem fated to be assigned French cabin stewards with changing voices. This is the third one to snap from deep bass into high soprano with surprising agility. He can run an octave with a pleasant "Bon Jour." But somehow you grow fearful that with a long sentence he might tear something.

In the smoking-room this evening one of those tweedy pipe-smoking voyageurs was explaining to a lady who didn't seem much interested that mental concentration was necessary to avoid sea sickness. She was a joyous flapper with rolled stockings, a lot of bangle and a wind wave bob, and when he suggested she practice concentration by knitting, it was rather amusing to her her reply: "But I'd rather be ill than knit."

Three gentlemen whose wives wept softly on their shoulders at the New York dock occupied a table for four at breakfast. COSTLIEST

Aileen Pringle

Hollywood, Cal.—Aileen Pringle, Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer star, who owns the costliest negligee in Hollywood, made of real lace from a shawl once owned by an Empress of Russia, gives her recipe for cleansing it.

"I always personally supervise the washing of it to make certain it is done in Lux suds," Aileen said.

And over at Paramount, Travis Banton, costume director for all productions, reveals that in caring for the thousands of beautiful costumes and the vast stock of fabrics in the Paramount wardrobes and sets, Lux is used . . . because it saves money by keeping all kinds of fabrics new-looking twice as long.

"We now use Lux for every bit of laundry in our vast wardrobe department. We no longer discard costumes which have lost their new look. 'Lux' them. Lux doubles the life of sturdy fabrics as well as sheer materials," he said.

Millions of women also use Lux because its pure suds cleanse safely, keep fabrics new twice as long.

How One Woman Ended Eczema

Severe Case All Over Her Body, But Now She Is Better.

Here is just another case of how Peterson's Ointment conquers the terrible itching of eczema after other treatments had failed.

The same kind of a story comes from all over the country. After others fail Peterson's Ointment succeeds.

This letter from Charlotte Brandeau, of Swansea, Mass., is worth reading: "I used Peterson's Ointment and soap for a very severe case of eczema. It was all over my body. I have tried many things to cure it, but not one of them gave me a cure. I saw the ad of Peterson's Ointment in the Fall River Herald and now I am better. I do not get without your ointment and soap in the house, and recommend it very much."

Get a box of Peterson's Ointment at any drug store in America for 35 cents—it won't disappoint you.—Adv.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Do You Know What a Woman of 30 Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height of course. If she is five feet seven inches in height she should weigh according to the best authorities 142 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 3 inches she should weigh 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women, who will tell you that it doesn't pay to be too thin.

That is why so many thousands of underweight men and women are putting their faith in McCoy's Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at any drug store in America.—Adv.

The Maytag is the only washer with a non-breakable, cast-aluminum tub—the tub that keeps water hot for an entire washing, then empties and cleans itself.

Because of the silent, smooth-running, steel-cut gears, there is a remarkable absence of vibration, and vibration is a washer's greatest enemy.

"Two Stolen Idols"

A Story of Love and Adventure

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

(Copyright, 1927, Geo. H. Doran Co., by Arrangement with King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHAPTER 34

I [illegible] afternoon, and the A[illegible] wind, was taking [illegible] and some five or six [illegible] slowed now off the port bow. Kingsley leaned against the [illegible] his eyes on Tita, [illegible] thoughts far afield. It had been a strange voyage! They were [illegible] from Aorangi and [illegible] in hour and a half [illegible] Kilawa. And [illegible] scarcely a word had been spoken. Vera [illegible] had seemed [illegible] and [illegible] had responded to her every [illegible] had been perfectly [illegible].

The freedom of the deck [illegible] but it was only of late [illegible] began to avail himself of it. [illegible] had thought that [illegible] would be disgusted [illegible] her sore feelings. But [illegible] seemed to bear him [illegible] a little unwilling to [illegible] Singapore. He could [illegible] plotted so far as he could see, and he had determined to put [illegible] effect. She must, whether she liked it or not, turn the old page to [illegible]. After that he would go on to Singapore and [illegible] to those unpremeditated [illegible] that he was [illegible] ago he had sent Kolin [illegible] that they were making [illegible] hope was something [illegible] and Kolin had brought back [illegible] she would come up on deck [illegible].

Kingsley pushed his cap [illegible] of his head, [illegible] to the back of his head, [illegible] a look which was [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible].

[illegible] all the voyages [illegible] had figured up a lot of [illegible] for [illegible] and learned forward [illegible] Nara [illegible] the rest of the men. His [illegible] seemed to be only a flesh [illegible] question had yet to [illegible] other than [illegible] him below for the first four [illegible] had not amounted to [illegible] for those four days when only [illegible] activity was possible, he had come [illegible] rather definite, and perhaps [illegible] decisions.

His first intention had been to take Vera direct to Singapore, and restore her to her family, assuming that others of her family besides Colonel Lyle lived there, or, failing actual relatives, to her friends, of whom she must have many. But in those four days he had quickly discarded that idea. There were many reasons why he had done so. Nara had told him that a small schooner had been lying at anchor for several days just off Aorangi and had still been there on the night the Atta had sailed. That was bad news. It presented an opportunity to get away from Aorangi that Chen-shu would not overlook. To board the schooner in the dark, and surprise and overpower the three or four men, probably natives, who at most would comprise the crew, would be no more than child's play. It was evidently the thing Dick and Bob had in mind when they had left Aorangi, but [illegible] Bob Kingsley, but already Singapore [illegible] as an accomplished fact. In any case since there had existed a possibility of transportation there was no longer any [illegible] that there would be [illegible] and even months before Chen-shu [illegible] Singapore. Therefore Singapore was to [illegible] Vera. As a matter of fact, she would [illegible] anywhere so long as [illegible] her possession!

That [illegible] another point! For [illegible] take [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] from the [illegible] good both as to its possession and [illegible] [illegible] knowledge she had [illegible] [illegible] another Chen-shu [illegible] [illegible] Singapore would have any [illegible] further interest in her. She [illegible] [illegible] Kingsley [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Eagles' Boxing Show Will Get Under Way Tonight At 8:15

Six rounds, 135 pounds
Preliminary
Ray Snyder, Marion, vs. Joe Black, Mansfield
Four rounds, 148 pounds
Preliminary
Young Kemple, Lima, vs. Young Dundee, Mansfield
Four rounds, 122 pounds

With advance ticket sales pointing to a sell out, the first boxing show of the season will be staged tonight at the Eagles' hall with 22 rounds of fighting on the card.

Eight fighters who will appear on the program will weigh in tonight at 6 o'clock bringing to a close several weeks of training for the bouts. The show will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Considerable interest will be shown in the two matches in which Marion boys will participate. In the semi-final bout Ike Jones will meet Ed Hammel of Lima. Jones is rather clever with his dukes and has been fighting off and on for the past several years. During the past several weeks Jones has been training hard for his share of the program. His opponent has an exceptionally good record back of him and will give him plenty to do.

The second Marion boy to appear is Ray Snyder, who will mix it with Joe Black of Mansfield in the second preliminary. The first bout will be staged between Young Kemple of Lima and Young Dundee of Mansfield.

Chuck Maxwel of Lima is favored to win his match with Paul Delaney of Mansfield. These two boys will fight it out in the main go of the Eagles' card.

Maxwell is by far the outstanding boxer of the two combining science with a hard punch. He has a much more impressive record than the Mansfield mauler.

IN GOLDEN SEAT

New York and Chicago Promoters After Mandell

New York, Feb. 27—The one-punch punch to the chin of Sid Terris that brought $20,000 in Tex Rickard's coffers when Terris was put to sleep by Jimmy McLarnin, California lightweight, may bring four times that amount to Sammy Mandell, the ring's pride. With his services as necessary demand by two rival promoters, Tex Rickard and Jim Mullen, it appears likely today that Mandell will receive a flat guarantee of at least $80,000 for defending his title against McLarnin.

Mullen says he has Mandell under contract, Rickard says he has McLarnin and the champion is perched in the golden seat while Chicago and New York keep tuning the ante.

WILL HOLD BANQUET

The closing of the collect ball season of the Business Men's Club will be celebrated at the Marion Hotel Wednesday night with a banquet. Previous to the banquet all ties will be played off.

"BEST MAN" FROM ELIMINATION AFFAIR MUST BE SENSATION

Rickard Sets Tentative Date for Heavyweight Title Bout on June 14

New York, Feb. 27—The first move in the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight, which Rickard has set tentatively for June 14 at the Yankee Stadium, may be largely attended by newspapermen and ushers. However, as long as there is a fist to be flung and a chin to be hit, the chance for the big kick-over of sentiment is there.

Delaney has proved this simply during recent months. He wasn't worth a second look after he blew that fight to Maloney, won on what might be termed a technical foul from Paulino and was beaten by Risko. But he slappered Sully Montgomery silly and stepped Berlenbach, Jack Humbeck and Leo Gates and now they think he is the life of the party. In consequence, if Delaney can abate or discontinue Tom Heeney for an interval of 10 seconds, the following may be set down as assured:

Delaney Best Card

First, that Delaney, regarded as the best drawing card in the game, will be in there with Tunney; second, that everybody will make money.

The writer is not so certain, either, that a man like Delaney, with a first class performance behind him in the elimination trials, wouldn't have better than an outside chance with Tunney. For one thing, both are counter fighters and when you get two of these together, anything can happen. Usually nothing does but that isn't anything out of my lunch box.

For another thing, the writer can't be convinced that Tunney will be absolutely "right" this time. In spite of all they say about his rigorous regard for bodily health, Tunney looked far from well on more than one occasion this winter and the champion, who may not be the man he was, might be taken by the first good men he meets.

As to whom that will happen, only the future can determine.

Training Camp Briefs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27—Lefty O'Doul, star player and coach of the New York Yankees here today. Babe Ruth will play only golf for the next week, in order to strengthen his legs. He will take on Rogers Hornsby in a match tomorrow.

With the signing of Earl Combs, the only absent Yanks are Waite Hoyt and Tony Lazzeri.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 27—Jesse McGraw was highly pleased by the work of 19-year-old Marion Orr at second base in yesterday's practice. The pilot of the Giants hopes that Orr, a former catcher and outfielder, will be able to fill Rogers Hornsby's shoes.

McGraw has sent an ultimatum to Vic Aldridge a holdout, offering the pitcher $15,000 more than he got from the Pirates last year.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 27—Having failed to sign Dazzy Vance for one year at $18,000, Manager Wilbert Robinson today turned the dispute over to Brooklyn officials for settlement. The Dodger mound ace wants $20,000 a year and a two-year contract.

Outfielder "Jigger" Statz also is a holdout. He wants $10,500 a year. The club offered him $9,000.

Eighteen Robins were to hold their first practice session today. Babe Herman, first baseman, came all the way from Los Angeles in his car.

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 27—Boss Joe McCarthy of the Cubs had all his boys together today for the first time this season. The second and final contingent of players checked in from Chicago yesterday. Prominent among the newcomers was Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, the Pirates' costoff. McCarthy had the full squad out in uniform today and prepared to put them to work.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27—Battery work was the order for the Cleveland Indians here today.

With their muscles loosened through three days of gymnasium practice and tossing, the pitcher will be permitted to "open up" in earnest, providing the weather is favorable.

PLAN TOURNEY

Seniors and Intermediates To Shoot Tuesday Night

The annual foul shooting tournament of the Marion Y. M. C. A. will open Tuesday night when the Senior and Intermediate divisions will shoot.

Saturday afternoon the Junior events will be held. The Junior contest will be open to youths under 17 years old who will be given 45 shots. The Intermediates will shoot 60 times and is open for youths between the ages of 17 and 20. The Senior division is limited to young men above the age of 20.

THREE TEAMS HOLD BIG TEN LEADERSHIP WHEN BADGERS LOSE

Indications Point to Tie at End of Season; State Out of Cellar

Chicago, Feb. 27—Rumors are thick that the seemingly outstanding Gobarb record, here and elsewhere always the jinx to pick off the season's Big Ten baseball honors but rather, it appears more will be least three teams who will pass around the olives in crap players.

The big race shaped up today as a result of Saturday's upheaval, into the orgy of basket tossing went one to the Wisconsin cage posses a pair of best players and out of it came three: Lamar Purdue, Indiana and Wisconsin in a death grip tie for the pole marking berth.

The Boilermakers climbed back to the top rung by beating Wisconsin 31 to 15. The game played on Purdue's home floor at Lafayette served to appease the Boilermakers and their rooters for the ignominy of defeat dished out by the Badgers at Madison last Thursday night.

Indiana, by remaining idle, automatically slipped into a three way tie with Purdue and Wisconsin. Each of these three contenders now has won seven games and lost two.

Northwestern was kept out of this select company by losing to Michigan Saturday night. The score was 47 to 25. Had the Wildcats won, they would now be a party to the first place deadlock. The game was played at Ann Arbor.

In the third conference game played Saturday, Ohio State walloped Minnesota, 36 to 27 at Columbus.

Each of the three leaders has three games yet to play. Barring surprising upsets, all of them should come through with clean slates. Two of the teams, Indiana and Wisconsin, have a game each pending with Michigan, one of the best wrecking crews in the circuit. Otherwise they meet only teams who have floundered and are now fighting to keep out of the cellar.

Three championship games are scheduled for tonight; they are, Indiana at Iowa, Michigan at Ohio State and Minnesota at Purdue. Tomorrow night Chicago plays Northwestern at Evanston, and Thursday night Illinois tackles the Purple in another game at Evanston.

Saturday night, which will see the windup of the last strenuous week of the season, Chicago plays Illinois at Urbana, Michigan tackles Indiana at Bloomington, and Iowa journeys to Madison for a game with Wisconsin.

WATCH RECORD

New York, Feb. 27—Track fans here were looking forward eagerly today to the three cornered duel between Ray Conger and two of his victims, Lloyd Hahn and Dr. Otto Peltzer, at the Knights of Columbus Games here next Wednesday night. League leading teams in the Marion Industrial Basketball Loop are expected to fatten their standings tonight when games are played on the Star Auditorium floor.

While the Silk Mill eagers are favored and General Excavators meet in the first game starting at 7 o'clock. The Excavators are tied for last place having lost seven out of games played. The Ogrend team is tied with the Business College league leadership.

C. D. M. cagers are expected to easily over the American Malleable, other aggregation in the cellar position. It will be necessary for the electricians to win the contest to stay in the running for the league title.

Huber may give the Business College a battle in the final game but odds are favoring the Collegians. The future secretaries have the outstanding team of the league and will put up a real fight to maintain their standing.

From present indications the race will end with a tie for first place. One good is almost certain of one-half of the title while the other half will depend on the winner of the C. D. & M.-Business College game March 12.

KONJOLA MADE A GREAT CHANGE IN HER HEALTH

"It Relieved My Rheumatism, Neuritis and Stomach Trouble," She Says

MRS. O. A. BURNS

"Since I have taken Konjola, I feel like a different person and it is a pleasure to indorse such a medicine," said Mrs. O. A. Burns, 1825 Lincoln Blvd., Dayton, Ohio.

"My whole body had become a solid mass of aches and pains from the rheumatism and neuritis I had suffered for six years. Terrible pains would center in my arms and shoulders and my back was always sore and achy. Besides being in almost constant misery, with those pains, a disordered stomach gave me a lot of trouble and I couldn't eat a meal without suffering indigestion afterward. Even a drink of water would hurt me.

"When I heard of Konjola, I started to take this medicine and it soon had me feeling better than I have in years. It relieved my rheumatism, neuritis and stomach trouble and it built up my whole system. After such an experience I can certainly recommend Konjola to others."

It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more health yaction. All of the money is to be used for road and bridge maintenance and repair.

Half of the total, $21,802.74, goes to the State Highway Department for upkeep of state roads.

The remainder is distributed as follows:

City of Marion, $13,917.82; Caledonia, $709.80; Green Camp, $157.45; LaRue, $728.52; Morral, $167.60; New Bloomington, $59.70; Prospect, $577.24; Waldo, $251.15; county, $5,547.40.

The county's share is from the sale of licenses in townships outside the city and villages. The licenses sold for machines in that territory totaled 1,762.

Enumeration of machines for which licenses were sold in the various municipalities is as follows:

City of Marion, 5,746; Caledonia, 96; Green Camp, 58; LaRue, 188; Morral, 46; New Bloomington, 23; Prospect, 165; Waldo, 61.

THE SHORT ROAD TO GOOD HEALTH

A Real Wonder

Sykodoner Gives Joy To Another Well-Known Marion Citizen

"To say that I am jubilant over the amazing fact, that the new and wonderful new heal, the Sykodoner has brought me renewed health and strength, after all else had failed, is putting it very mildly indeed," said Mr. John Hochstetter, aged 78, residing at 390 N. Prospect street, Marion, Ohio. He continued, "I suffered with bronchial cough and severe stomach trouble; kidneys and bladder were more or less affected too; bowels were in bad shape; and I was gradually losing my hearing, while my eyesight was getting bad. My entire body was so weakened that I could not even arise from a chair without assistance. Going up and down stairs, I had to crawl hand over hand.

"But thank our Heavenly Father, I now feel thirty years younger than I did a short time ago. I have no more cough, my stomach is such that I can now eat anything and everything that grows, and enjoy it too. My bladder and kidneys are very much improved. My bowels are perfectly normal, hearing is fair, while my sight is so much improved, that I can now read without glasses. I no longer need any assistance when arising from a chair, and can walk up and down stairs and all over town alone, and without as much as the use of a cane. All this was accomplished without the use of drugs, serum, surgery, or rubbing. I take colds no longer.

"After spending hundreds of dollars on medicine, all without the least benefit, my friends consider my recovery as a marvel of modern science. I shall be only too glad to give further information to any chronic sufferer if I can be of any help while I still remain on this earth." The automobile was invented for pleasure at considerable cost, while the Sykodoner, the wonder of the age, at very little cost, gives health—the greatest of all earthly wealth."

Signed, John Hochstetter.

Call at once, for demonstrations are not now given free, to all—whether rich or poor. No one is turned away. See the most amazing phenomena you ever before saw in all your life. You may not be able to explain it; but it is here. No drugs, serum, surgery, or rubbing. The most delightful treatment you ever received—while comfortably seated in a rocking chair. Industrial Stocks Drop to Low Level as Week Opens

SQUEEZE FEAR HINDERS SALE

Steel and Motors Only Show Signs of Activity Since First of Year

Markets at a Glance

Railroad stocks, inactive; Industrial stocks, reactionary; domestic bonds, inactive; foreign bonds, firm; call money 4½ pct; grain, steady; copper, firm; oil, irregular; cotton, reactionary; rubber, firm; sugar, steady; pig iron, steady; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Feb. 27—Industrial stocks gravitated to a lower level of prices in a dull and featureless market today. Lack of definite constructive developments in American industry, and fear of a moderate "squeeze" in the money market between this date and the middle of March discouraged outside participation in the market, and the pools were more interested in lightening their loads than in boosting up prices of their favorites.

The market was a "show me" one was the prevailing opinion in the Wall Street district as the new week opened. Business and economic surveys over the week-end promised very little in the way of immediate improvement in business, outside of the steel and motor industries, which appear to have gained about 20 per cent in operations since the turn of the year.

The failure of the market to respond to good news in the way of a $40,000,000 increase in brokers' loan last week, as well as the speeding up of steel production, was a great discouragement to the bulls few of whom had the courage to bid upward their favorites today. After the first forenoon rally in the steel and motor stocks, the list turn heavy, and the downward movement started in full force.

Losses of a point or two were extended to a maximum of five points to 81; Greene Cananea was down 4 1-2 at 115; Radio down 3 1-2 at 88 1-2. Houston Oil down 3; Curtiss Steel down 2; Woolworth down 3. United States Steel was again under pressure and sold down about 2 points at 128, while General Motors held firmly around 135. The failure of the motor stock list was also steady.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 27—Wheat futures showed considerable activity the past week. The price trend was upward, with the bullish factors to be found in the continued stability of the cash situation, an increasing number of reports of damage to the new crop and the rumors of Russian purchases of Canadian wheat. However, sharp advances were followed by reactions and net gains were only ⅝@2c. March wheat closed Saturday at $1.33, May $1.33¾ and July $1.31⅜.

Winter crop conditions were the dominating bullish influence. Reports of damage to the crop in the Ohio valley states were numerous and some of them extremely bullish. The status of the crop in the Southwest was considerably better, following recent rains and snowfall, but the cold spell the latter part of the week found many sections unprotected.

Effect of the crop reports on the market is best seen in the fact that the July future ruled the strongest, and gained approximately 1c on the May, narrowing the spread of prices to 2c. Early in the week Liverpool was firmer due to unfavorable conditions surrounding the foreign seeded crops, and this was also reflected in the local market.

Although the rumors that Russia was in the market for grain were strenuously denied, they exerted a strengthening influence on prices. Cabled reports to the Department of Agriculture said that while Russian procurements increased considerably in January, they slumped again the early part of this month and conditions are now becoming unfavorable for the movement. Procurements are far short of the total set for the year and the seed so far obtained is said to be insufficient to provide or the deficit sections.

This served to strengthen the views of those who are inclined to believe that Russia is a potential buyer. While Russia exported 8,000 bu. of wheat through the Black Sea it is thought that it might be cheaper in view of the world's surplus to import foreign wheat for the deficit northern sections rather than transport it across the country.

On the other hand, export business was quiet in all sections. World's shipments dropped sharply and North American clearances totaled only 5,824,000 bu. Figures for today will show world's shipments about 13,000,000 bu. it is estimated. This decrease in foreign demand was a drag on the old crop months all week.

The cash situation remains about unchanged, serving as a stabilizer to the futures. Milling demand keeps stiff premiums on all the top grades. Cash trade in the local market ruled slow due to lightness of offerings.

Sharp upturns in the wheat market were responsible for some of the weakness in corn. Traders who have been active in corn because of the dullness in the wheat market went back to the wheat pit and a less active corn trade ensued. Also there was a great deal of unwinding of spreads. Previous to the renewal of interest in wheat there was a great deal of buying of corn against sales of wheat. When shorts in wheat were forced to cover, they quickly realized profits in corn at the high prices.

FIND HICKMAN GUN

Weapon Comes into Hands of Police by Means of Youth's Map

Los Angeles, Feb. 27—Grim reminder of a career of youthful crime, climaxed by the kidnaping and murder of 12 year-old Marion Parker, the revolver formerly wielded by William Edward Hickman was in the possession of police here today.

The weapon came into officials' hands through information furnished by the youthful kidnaper-killer himself. A crude map, drawn by the youth, who is under sentence of death for the brutal murder, guided police to an irrigation-line sanitrar, where the revolver was dug up.

The gun, according to Hickman, was used in the drug store gun battle on Christmas Eve, 1926, which ended in the death of C. Ivy Thoms.

CONDITION IMPROVED

The condition of Miss Rose Seavy who has been quite ill of diphtheria at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seavy, Leader-st, is reported to be slightly improved today.

Declares Soft Coal Conditions are Blotch Upon Civilization

FIRST PUBLIC REPORT GIVEN

Senator Says It Is Inconceivable That Such Squalor and Suffering Tolerated

Indiana Pa., Feb. 27—Conditions in the strike-torn Pittsburgh district soft coal fields "are a blotch upon American civilization," Senator Gooding, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Coal Investigation Committee, declared here today.

Gooding's statement was issued after consultation with the three other senators accompanying him, and was the first public report by the committee on its five-day investigation in the coal region.

"It is inconceivable that such squalor, suffering, misery and distress should be tolerated in the heart of one of the richest industrial centers of the world," Gooding said.

"The committee found men, women and children living in hovels which are more unsanitary than a modern sanitary pen. They are breeding places of sickness and crime.

Fields for Communism

"The conditions in the fields for the spread of communism and other doctrines which teach the overthrow of the American government, industrial leaders of America cannot permit such conditions to continue.

"The dispute in the Pittsburgh soft coal fields is more than a local fight between a union and a group of coal operators. It is an industrial war that affects conditions which the committee has found in its first-hand survey in the coal mines and camps."

The committee today turned the searchlight on the central Pennsylvania fields. It was particularly interested in the injunctions issued by Judge J. N. Langham of the state court of common pleas. One of the restraining orders prohibited the striking miners from congregating to sing hymns in the yard of the Magyar Presbyterian Church at Rossiter, 25 miles from here. The miners also were enjoined from picketing, marching or inserting advertisements in newspapers about the strike.

Gathered in Yard

The Magyar church, a rather small, dirt-covered building, stands like a lone sentinel on a hill overlooking the entrance to one of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation's mines. It had been the habit of strikers to gather in the church yard each day, the morning end at 8 o'clock, the afternoon to pokes from 4 to 5 o'clock, on their way to and from work.

Among the songs the miners sang was one containing the line:

"Hew on the wrong side with Jesus," and another was "We'll go you bet and be."

Judge Langham explained to the committee that it was contrary to the demonstrations.

Asked these injunctions practically locked Stephen Wagner, Republican of New York.

"Yes I guess so," replied the judge, "but we tested the injunctions by the miners who came to see just what they were doing out there."

No hearings have been held on the injunctions, although they were issued last August.

Admits Owning Stock

"I think it's mighty funny that the strikers aren't pressing for a hearing," said Judge Langham. "I'd think they'd be clamoring for it. My impression is they don't want a hearing."

"I think it's getting into dangerous ground to issue injunctions against singing church hymns," interposed Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana.

Judge Langham declared he recently bought some hymn books for the strikers, and "exhorted them to use the church for religious purposes." He denied vehemently he was interested in mines covered by the injunctions, but said he had some mine stock. Miners told the committee they have been unable to get Judge Langham to set a hearing date.

Today's itinerary included Rossiter, Clymer, Commodore and Arcadia. The committee will leave for Washington late tonight.

EXAMINERS HERE TO CHECK COUNTY BOOKS

T. W. Jones, A. G. Atwell from State Bureau Start Work in Treasurer's Office

T. W. Jones, examiner representing the State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, and A. G. Atwell, assistant examiner, arrived here this morning and began examination of records and accounts of Marion County offices. It is expected that several months will be required for completion of the work.

This is to be one of the regular periodic examinations conducted by the state department in all public offices. It will cover the period extending from Sept. 26, 1926, the close of the last examination, up to the time of the examiners' arrival here today.

Jones and Atwell began their work in the treasurer's office. Their final report, when completed, will provide a detailed account of transactions in all county offices.

The last county examination was made by Harry Riley and Bladen Marshall, who wound up their work here last May.

Both of the examiners now on duty here are residents of Columbus.

Work of Computing Semi-Annual Settlement for County Completed

Work of computing the semi-annual tax settlement for Marion County was completed Saturday, in the office of County Auditor Earl L. Thomas and today the settlement sheets were taken to Columbus by Miss Edith Liddle, deputy auditor, for official approval by the state auditor.

The figures list distribution of the December tax collection to all of the various subdivisions, including state, county, townships, school district and municipalities. The collection totaled more than $1,000,000.

After the statement is approved by the state, preparations for distribution of the million dollar fund will be started at once in the county auditor's office.

Checks for the various subdivisions will be ready March 1, Auditor Thomas said today. That is the date on which the city, county and school districts pay off their semi-annual debt and interest installments. Goods and interest falling due in Marion County on March 1 will total several hundred thousand dollars.
